ECLC Collects Hats for Haiti

CAPTION: The young people in ECLC of New Jersey's P.R.I.D.E. program, located in Chatham, are reaching out to help Haitians impacted by the recent earthquake. Over the past several weeks, they have collected several hundred baseball caps to donate to those in need. Organizers hope the caps bring a small measure of relief to Haitians who are struggling to survive every day and still lack basic necessities and shelter. The collection drive included (left to right) Jessica Probst of Chatham, P.R.I.D.E. Director Dot Libman, Oni Strother, Cori Foreit and Adam Lampf of Chatham. The P.R.I.D.E. program provides vocational skills training, independent living skills training and more to adults with developmental disabilities.
